REPORT ON INDUSTRIAL VISIT TO CSIR, Chennai on September 26, 2024

The Department of Electrical and Electronics Engineering, Aarupadai Veedu Institute of Technology organized a one day Industrial visit to CSIR Chennai on September 26 2024 as a part of Open Day of CSIR. A team of III year Students (14 students) of EEE along with Faculty member took part in the Industrial visit. We started from AVIT and reached CSIR , Taramani at around 11.30am by our college bus.

The Council of Scientific & Industrial Research (CSIR), established in 1942 with Corporate Office at New Delhi, and a network of 38 national laboratories spread over the country is a premier R&D Organisation in India providing S & T inputs to a diverse spectrum of economic, industrial and societal sectors. The R & D activities covers fields from aerospace engineering to ocean sciences, molecular biology to metallurgy, chemicals to mining, food to petroleum & leather to environment. In order to foster multidisciplinary research and to cater to the requirements of the southern region, five major laboratories established regional centres at Madras in a single campus which is known as CSIR MADRAS COMPLEX (CMC). The Council of Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR) celebrated its Foundation Day on 26th September 2024, by hosting an Open Day at its campus in Chennai. Students got the opportunity to visit the laboratories and the experts from various departments explained about the processes and studies in a very simple and elaborative way. The visit to the wind energy laboratory gave them a complete insights on how different studies on wind energy technologies are carrying out. The students utilized the opportunity very well by clearing their doubts on different areas of engineering and technology. it was very useful for the students and strengthened their knowledge
